Headquartered in Anaheim, California, Premier Culinary Solutions builds immersive kitchen and dining experiences for commercial, educational, corporate, healthcare, and senior-living environments through a collaborative design + build + manage approach. Led by Scott Roczey with over 25 years of foodservice design + build experience. Premier Culinary Solutions was founded in order to bring more value and collaboration to the client during construction which is major pain point in today's foodservice marketplace.

Our approach to projects looks far beyond just providing kitchen equipment. With an experienced design studio, we provide a true design build solution by managing real cost, budget, and value engineering strategies throughout the design process. During construction we do not stop at equipment procurement rather, we focus on providing post construction services that are unique to Premier, including; equipment asset management, VR equipment training modules, preventative maintenance programs, extensive project startup/commissioning, and an extended warranty service. The resulting custom solutions are key to delivering high-quality projects that are on schedule, on budget and provide ongoing support for the end user.
